

AMENDMENT TO THE ABSTRACT:

A system according to the present invention comprises: a reception server 11-for receiving an access request from a network; a registration receiving part 12-for searchably registering access information in a database 14, based on search condition information which includes plural words and an association word for semantically associating the plural words; and a DB managing part 13-for, in reply to a search request based on search condition information, searching for the search condition information registered in the database 14-to output the access information. With this configuration, the present invention allows accurate search for desired information.